A MICRO-ARTIST ON A SOCIAL CAUSE

Mr.Dheeraj Kolla

A micro-sculpture artist and a mechanical engineer from Hyderabad, Dheeraj creates unbelievably detailed sculptures on pieces of chalk and pencil lead. After looking at these incredible miniature carvings, one remains flabbergasted as to how the highly meticulous objects can be sculpted on such tiny pieces of graphite and carbonate rock.

Since a very young age, his mother began stressing the importance of charity and would encourage him to donate food to at least one person, if not a 100 people. So, in 2017, the 23-year-old who has done much voluntary work as a student pursuing Mechanical Engineering started donating one meal daily. He even took his initiative online by posting it on Instagram, "as doing this alone wouldn't have made a difference. This campaign needed to spread," he explains. He encourages everyone to share a meal with the needy, click a picture while doing so and use the hashtag #shareameal and #dheerajkolla while posting it.
